Coastal Concerts Presents Kaleidoscope Chamber Collective in Concert December 9

Kaleidoscope Chamber Collective, hailed for its "exhilarating performances" (The Times), will perform for a Coastal Concerts audience at Cape Henlopen High School Auditorium, 2 P.M., Saturday, December 9, 2023. The concert will be preceded at 1 P.M. by Lani Spahr and his Performance Insights. Kaleidoscope was dreamed up in 2017 by Philadelphia native and Delmarva favorite Elena Urioste with her pianist/composer husband and playing partner, Tom Poster. The Collective's flexible roster features many of today's most inspirational musicians, both instrumentalists and singers. Its creative programming is marked by a commitment to celebrating diversity of all forms with a desire to unearth lesser-known gems of the repertoire.

Kaleidoscope broadcasts regularly on BBC Radio 3 and has recently been ensemble-in-residence at Aldeburgh Festival, Kettle's Yard, and Ischia Music Festival. Kaleidoscope is regularly featured at Elena's own summer festival, Chamber Music by the Sea, which is centered in Berlin and Snow Hill, MD.

The December 9 concert will feature works by Franz Schubert, Ernö Dohnányi, Jessie Montgomery and Florence Price. And, to take advantage of the larger capacity high school auditorium while celebrating the holiday season, CoCo is offering a BOGO deal: every ticket bought gets you one free. And if you purchased your tickets previously, contact Monica Han at monezra@gmail.com and request a free ticket for each one purchased. Give the gift of music this year! For more information and to purchase tickets, visit CoastalConcerts.org.

Coastal Concerts is supported in part by a grant from the Delaware Division of the Arts, a state agency, in partnership with the National Endowment for the Arts. The Division promotes Delaware arts events on DelawareScene.com.
